Apprehended Personal Violence Orders - A survey of NSW magistrates

You are invited to participate in a study of Apprehended Personal Violence Orders being conducted by the Bureau of Crime Statistics and Research. The aim of this study is to learn more about the nature of Apprehended Personal Violence Orders and the circumstances under which they are sought. All NSW magistrates and registrars have been asked to participate in this study.

If you would like to take part in this study, please complete this online questionnaire. This questionnaire should take no longer than 10 minutes to complete. The responses you provide will remain confidential and anonymous. No analysis will be able to identify individual respondents.

The results from this survey will be published as a Crime and Justice Bulletin by the Bureau of Crime Statistics and Research in 2012. If you would like to discuss any of the matters raised in this survey, please contact Dr Don Weatherburn, telephone (02) 92319190 or email bcsr@agd.nsw.gov.au.
